Good Stuff About Our Grantees

It's Your Time to Shine

Calling all young actors and dancers

Are you always dancing and singing around your house? Have you imagined seeing yourself up on stage under big, bright lights?

If so, there is a program available to those of you who are between the ages of 11 and 18 and reside in Detroit's 48207 ZIP code.

This program – Building Bridges Through Creativity – includes several great opportunities for interested children. ♦ Building Bridges is a program of the Detroit Opera House and located in Franklin-Wright Settlements, located at 3360 Charlevoix on Detroit's east side.

performer Karen DiChiera will teach the tricks of the trade.

♦ Karen will work with students on composing music, writing songs, singing and acting. ♦ An improvisational theater class has begun, so hurry because classes are filling up quickly.

Participating students not only learn, grow, become motivated, inspired and really good dancers,

- they also will be treated to two operas and dance performances. ♦
- Students also will become eligible for summer scholarships in the Michigan Opera Theatre's Create Opera programs; Learning at the Opera House programs; Summer Dance Intensives and Master classes. ♦ Wow!
- Everything is free. ♦ If transportation is a concern, you may even qualify for a ride. ♦ For more information about this experience, give Kamilah Levens, education coordinator, a call at 313.237.3251.
- Learn how to express yourself creatively!
- Students are invited to come to Franklin-Wright on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5 to 7 p.m.
- Dance classes are taught on Tuesdays. ♦ Teachers Angela Polk and Penny Godboldo have tons of experience working with students who are new to dance and those more advanced looking for a challenge. ♦
- Students are offered a full range of dance options: modern, ballet, African, hip-hop and creative movement. ♦ Choreography will be taught, and students will perform their own work.
- It's all about theater on Thursdays. ♦ Veteran award-winning artist, teacher and
